

TRAVELING AMBASSADOR

EMERGENCY MEDICINE | HOSPITAL MEDICINE | CRITICAL CARE

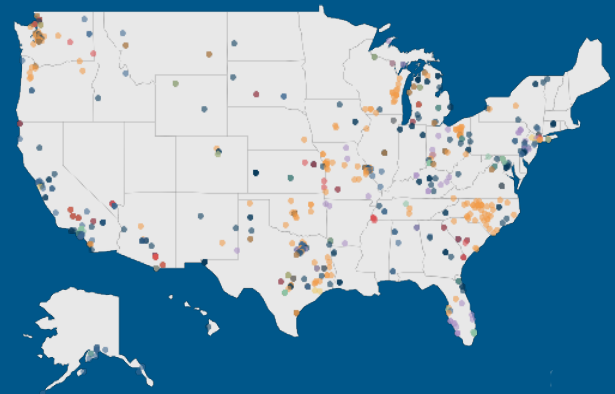

WHAT IS AN AMBASSADOR?

A Sound Physicians ambassador is a physician or APP who provides clinical services at multiple programs across a region (or, in some instances, across the country). The ambassador has a critical role in contributing to our programs by providing skilled interim care where we have available shifts or leadership openings. Each ambassador is aligned with the overall performance of Sound Physicians' programs and bridges relationships between hospital administration and medical staff. We have rewarding ambassador opportunities across the country.

WHAT DOES IT TAKE TO BE A SOUND AMBASSADOR?

- Excellent reputation as a clinician, strong diagnostic skills, and a calm, rational approach to problem-solving
- Highly adaptable to different work environments, including varying program sizes and levels of sophistication
- Diplomacy in all interactions with stakeholders
- A positive attitude with a high degree of energy; committed to working the hours required to produce great results
- An effective communicator who is comfortable speaking with all levels of a hospital administration and medical staff
